The Race Debate 2008

RACISM & THE STATE OF BRITAIN

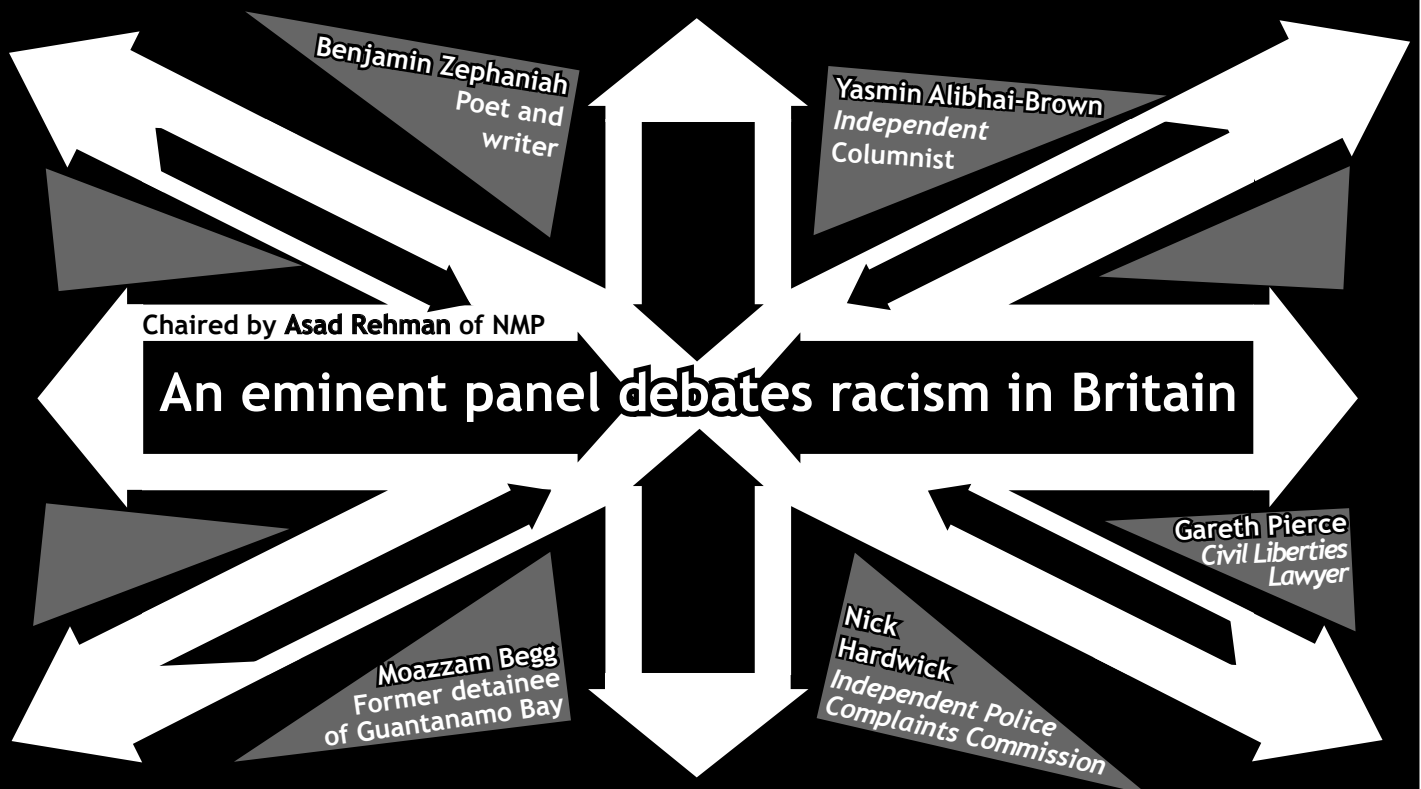

Wednesday
23rd April

Institutional racism, community cohesion, culture, segregation, terrorism, Britishness... the debate over the state of Britain in 2008 is increasingly focused on race.

7pm-9.30pm @ the Brunei Gallery
School of Oriental and African Studies,
Thornhaugh St, Russell Square, WC1

Nearest tube, Goodge St

Tickets £5 (SOAS students free). Reserve tickets via Newham Bookshop - 020 8552 9993

One of the country's leading community anti-racist organisations, Newham Monitoring Project (NMP), has brought together an eminent panel of experts and activists to debate the issue of racism in Britain in the first Gilly Mundy Memorial Debate.

This event is named in honour of Gilly Mundy, the anti-racist and custody-deaths campaigner who was a management committee member and former worker for NMP and who worked supporting bereaved families as senior caseworker for the campaigning charity INQUEST. Gilly died suddenly in March 2007 aged only 36.
